A unique opportunity is now open for everyone who cares about the UK's extraordinary heritage to give their views on Heritage Lottery Fund's plans for the future.

They support projects that range from restoring natural landscapes to rescuing neglected buildings, from recording diverse community histories to providing life-changing training. They now want to know what people think their role, vision and priorities should be as the UK's biggest funder of heritage during their next strategic funding framework – the period from 2019 - 2024.

Comments are being invited on a proposed new approach including targeted funding campaigns, repayable loans and public involvement in decision-making, all of which could have a role over the next five years in ensuring the most effective use of National Lottery money to support the UK's heritage.
